

APPENDIX A

EARLY SPEER IMMIGRANTS TO NORTH AMERICA

The Speer individuals who left their homes for life in the New World were undoubtedly courageous. Who were these early Speer immigrants? Research through thousands of reference books containing ships' passenger lists, genealogical registers, and other official records led to the discovery of the early Speer immigrants.

In the listing below, you'll find the reference book where we located Speer immigrant or immigrants. The book's author is given, the title, the publisher, and the year of publication.

Then, following the reference book listing, you'll find the immigrant's name, their age (if known) at the time of arrival in the New World, the port of entry or area where they first settled, and the page number of the reference book where their name was found. This listing will be invaluable to you as you search for clues to your Speer family tree.
